A message from Mr Stockwell

Dear Families

It has been a busy week here at Glenbrook. I was so lovely to see so many parents for parents evening. Thanks for taking the time to come and for all the support you give to the school.

This week we thought a lot about remembrance. On Monday, we had Staff Sergeant Daniel come to do an assembly to tell us about remembrance as well as the different roles that exist in the armed forces. During the week, the children made wreaths ready for Thursday. On Thursday, we joined with others in the country to do a 2-minute silence together. Representatives of the Pupil Parliament also laid wreaths in our Garden of Remembrance.

On Tuesday, a group of girls represented the school in the "This Girl Can" festival. Mr Dames, who took the girls along, said they had a great time and represented the school really well!

Next week, we will continue to be busy with Odd Socks Day, Anti-Bullying week and Children in Need.

Have a great weekend

Mr Stockwell
